

Put Stage and Screen

AT THE TOP OF YOUR CALL SHEET

At the height of the pandemic Stage and Screen was super busy finding creative solutions to bring international cast and crew into the country, while circumventing cities in lockdown, like Sydney and Melbourne. All at a time when a return business class airfare to LA was running as high as $25,000 – and while knowing that production houses couldn't break their budgets! But with over 20 years' experience, extensive contact lists and loyal supplier networks, our team know how to a rabbit (and a cat) out of the hat, to keep a production rolling.

During the past two years, Stage and Screen has brought the productions for La Brea, Black Light, Pieces of Her and Run Rabbit Run into Australia to ensure work could continue for these shows. Stage and Screen has also been working with its Australian portfolio of clients to support the production of shows such as My Kitchen Rules, Love Island, I'm A Celebrity Get Me Outta Here and Neighbours. As subject matter experts, our operational and account management team is perfectly cast to provide clients with expert insight and support when conditions become challenging.

We also understand that apart from the actors and directors, production companies also need to employ, accommodate and arrange travel for hundreds of workers behind the scenes. They're the ones that build and light the stages, manage the wardrobes and cater for the huge cast and crew that bring productions to life. Having worked on many productions, we also know that it can take 10 months to 1.5 years to film the first season of a new show – and how to manage the travel requirements that come with long-stay projects.

This is where Stage and Screen pulls out their bulletproof action plan to help clients with:

- Exclusive entertainment airfares, vehicle and accommodation rates
- Exclusive entertainment rates on charter flights, long stay and private housing
- Travel managers who can work on-site or on location
- Discreet VIP and talent logistics management
- Freight and logistics with trusted partners
- Charter bookings
- Up-to-date COVID travel information
- Finance solutions for offsets and rebates
- Technology to track production crew when they're on the move, making sure they're safe every step of the way
- Travel alerts and information to keep clients informed
- Monitoring client travel spend and provision of comprehensive, up-to-the-minute reports at the touch of a button
- Provide out of the box solutions to keeping your production rolling.
